Greater Capital Area Association of REALTORS® announces general election endorsements

Local REALTOR® association endorses candidates in District of Columbia races

Washington, D.C. – The Greater Capital Area Association of REALTORS® (GCAAR)’s Political and Campaign Affairs Committee (PCAC) has endorsed four candidates who are running to serve on the Council of the District of Columbia in the November 3 general election.

Ranked-choice voting will again be used in the general election, as it was in the primary, where voters can choose to rank candidates in order of preference.

“The District of Columbia’s Fiscal Year 2027 budget reflected a $1.1 billion shortfall, which sparked a major dispute on the future fiscal health of the District, and the problem is seemingly on track to be exacerbated even further if not addressed,” said GCAAR President Russell Brazil. “D.C. is facing a historic financial cliff that threatens the quality of life for all residents. It’s our hope that, if elected, our selected candidates will more effectively contribute to a better housing environment for all who live in this community.”

The endorsements are as follows.

- Council Chairman: Phil Mendelson
- Ward 3: Matthew Frumin
- Ward 6: Charles Allen
- At-Large (Independent): Elissa Silverman

Details about each endorsement can be found on GCAAR’s website, gcaar.com/endorsements.
